PERSONAL TAX

Resolution Opposing It Submitted to East Washington Association.

CRITICISM OF THE NEW WORKHOUSE

Demand That National Government Shall Share in the Expense.

STREET RAILWAY SERVICE

Several matters of importance were called to the attention of the members of the East Washington Citizens' Association at the regular monthly meeting of the association held last night at Baum's Hall. Railroad matters were discussed, a movement was started looking to the establishment of public comfort places in the parks, and the question of personal tax was talked over. One matter of importance had reference to the workhouse property, especially concerning the new building. This matter was called to the attention of the association in a series of resolutions presented by Mr. S. W. Curriden, chairman of the committee on charities and corrections, which

"This association is advised that the Commissioners of the District of Columbia have included in their estimates for appropriations for the next fiscal year the item of $100,000 for 'continuing erection of workhouse for males,'—this being contrary to the requirements of the act of Congress approved March 1, 1901, as follows: Provided that the total cost of the building shall not exceed $150,000, including the $100,-

000 heretofore appropriated.'
"This association has also been informed that of the above appropriation of $150,000 large sums have been expended for costly plumbing, far in excess in cost and extent of that found in any like structure in Amerca, resulting in one of the most expensive structures in the District, and so small as to afford no commensurate accommodations for inmates. The association is war-ranted in believing that this building, with approaches, if completed as the present condition of the plans call for, will exceed sum over $150,000 being in violation of law. Contrary to Park Commission Plans.

"This association has been further informed that the location of this workhouse structure on its present site is contrary to the plans of the parking commission and hurtful to the project whereby promise is given for an unbroken extension of the parking system along the Eastern branch

"Therefore, the president of the association and with him the members of the ex-ecutive committee be and they are hereby directed in person and by letter to the ap-propriation committees of Congress to proest against the further appropriation of money for continuing the erection of a workhouse building on its present site and, further, to urge that a new and better site therefor be selected in accordance with the urgent recommendations of all the committees of this association by whom the present bad conditions of affairs there have been investigated."
Mr. Curriden, during the course of his remarks on the resolution, said the time will come when the jail and workhouse will have to be placed along the line of the steam railroads, where car switches can be run upon the property and where workshops will take the place of solitary confinement. He spoke of the alleged deplorable condition of men who come out of the prisons after serving long terms, and advocated moral and physical condition of the prison-will attract tramps from all over the country. It was the intention of the Rev. Dr Parsons to speak in support of the resolution, said Mr. Curriden, but he was unable to attend the meeting.

The resolutions were adopted. Public Parks and Spaces.

Mr. J. D. Croissant, chairman of the committee on public parks and spaces, submitted a report of his committee, which

"Your committee on public parks and spaces would congratulate the association and the citizens of Washington generally on the recent report through the Senate District committee of the park commission thorized by the Senate last session. This report has been made public, as yet, in part only, but through the extended quotations given out through the public press, and the exhaustive plans now open to inspection at he Corcoran Art Gallery, enough has been earned of these comprehensive plans for remodeling the city on the lines laid down by L'Enfant to convince us that when this eport is adopted, as it unquestionably will e, it will mark an important epoch in the nistory of the national capital.

"Following out the suggestion laid down in this report will put a stop to the irregu-lar and haphazard custom of locating public buildings, which hereafter will fall in line with this admirable plan. It is specially gratifying to note the thorough manner in which the eastern part of our city has been treated, and we heartily indorse the new plan of treating Anacostia flats. In fact, all the recommendations contained in this report are so generally satisfactory that we trust it may meet with the most cordial and hearty indorsement of this as-sociation, and we pledge ourselves to assist in every way possible to carry out their recommendations.'

The report was received and filed. For Public Comfort.

Mr. Croissant also submitted a resolution recommending public comfort accommodations in the parks. The resolutions recite that many of the parks which are frequented by children are without such accommodations, and conclude by asking the Commissioners to investigate the matter and request Congress to make the necessary appropriations to carry out the suggestion made in the resolutions.

Mr. Weller said he felt satisfied the comnittees of Congress would favor such improvements. The resolutions were adopted and copies of them will be sent to the Commissioners and congressional committees.

Mr. Nottingham offered a resolution to the effect that the association cordially unite with the Northeast Washington Citizens' Association in opposing the closing of H street northeast on account of the projected union station. Mr. Chappell said so far as he was concerned he objected to the eople of the northeast section having to oass through a tunnel in order to reach the heart of the city.

Mr. Curriden said he had been informed by General Harries that the matter of closing H street had been abandoned and that "General Harries usually knows what e talks about."
The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Weller, chairman of the committee on taxation, said he had no report to make. The tax bill, he said, has been amended since it was introduced and some further changes are anticipated. So far as he was concerned he thought the merchant who has a large stock of goods and carries on business for gain should pay his propor-tionate amount of the city's expenses as well as the poor man, who owns only his ATTENTION.

We believe that there are still a great many people in Washington who do not know that we are now selling at retail; that we have the finest and most complete stock of Bed Room Furniture in town; that our prices are much lower than the ordinary retail prices. To be sure, we are doing a great big business, but we ought to be doing pretty nearly all the Bed Room Furniture business in town.

So we are going to make everybody talk about us by selling Bed Room Furniture at such prices as have never been known before-prices so low that people will be telling each other about them as the most important piece of news of the day.

This sale will last just long enough to thoroughly accomplish its object. Maybe a very few days-maybe some weeks. 'It will be very expensive to us, but we think it will be the most effective way of advertising ourselves.

We shall sell finest quality All-brass Beds as low as $18.

We shall sell splendidly made Box Couches as low as $7.50.

We shall sell large Golden Oak Dressers that would ordinarily retail at about $22.50 to $25 for $14.50.

We shall sell fine Mahogany Dressers for as low as $27.50.

We shall sell Toilet Tables, Chiffoniers, Wardrobes, Chairs, Couches, Enameled Beds, Cribs, Mattresses and Bedding at such low prices that we know you will not lose this opportunity if you can help it.

an increase in the tax levy as will be necessary to raise the amount of money required, provided always, that the suggestions by the gentlemen above referred to be strictly complied with in carrying out the law of 1878. "We wish in this connection to record our opposition to any additional burden being placed upon our citizens under the present unfair and illegal appropriation of the funds raised by requiring the District to supply all the money for street extension and other public improvements, for which the general government should be held equally liable for the expense incurred, as the present revenues are entirely ample to rent expenses.

Opposes Personal Tax. Mr. Croissant also offered a resolution reciting: "Believing that a personal tax on the residents of the city of Washington would work great damage to the interests of permanent residents here and militate against the growth of the city, and whereas, knowthe growth of the city, and whereas, knowing that a great many persons of means annually take up their residence here because there is no personal or inquisitorial method of raising money, therefore it is the sense of this association that the best interests of our city will not be subserved in the passage of the personal property tax bill now before the House of Repre-

In conclusion, the resolution recommends that the members of the Senate and House committees on the District of Columbia be requested to use all honorable means to de-feat the pending measure. Both resolutions were referred to the executive committee.

Street Car Service.

Mr. Weller offered a resolution suggesting that action be taken to get a better car service on East Capital street during the hours when clerks and other employes are going to and from their places of business. Objection was also made in the resolution to the operation of open cars during the cold weather Secretary Sperry read the proposed street railway bill which has received the in-dorsement of other associations and the bill was referred to a committee and a member of the association will meet representatives of similar organizations to discuss the provisions of the bill.

There was no further business and the meeting adjourned.

SOUTHWEST ASSOCIATION. New Organization Preparing for Ac tive Operations. The second meeting of the South Wash ington Improvement Association was held last night in the parish hall of Grace Episcopal Church, corner of 9th and D streets southwest. President James F. Scaggs called the meeting to order, and subsequently fourteen new members were enrolled. It was announced that several committees will be appointed at a future meeting.

The president suggested that it would be the best plan to have the association called the Southwest Citizens' Association instead of Improvement Association, as a good many people had an idea that it had been formed for the purpose of carrying on improvements at its own expense. Mr. W. A. H. Church said that at one time there was a Southwest Citizens' Association, but it had not been possible to assertain whether it was still in existence. To Mr. Church moved that a committee of two be appointed to inquire into the mat-ter, and if such an organization shall be found to exist that the members be invited to join forces with the Improvement Association.

Dr. Millard F. Thompson and Mr. W. S. Barker were appointed as the committee.

Mr. W. X. Stevens and Dr. Millard F. Thompson spoke of the vast amount of room for improvement in the streets in the southwest section. The meeting advanced to make a section and place at N. journed to meet at the same place at 8 o'clock Tuesday night of next week.

The program of the national congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution has just been issued in the American Monthly Magazine, the organ of the society. There will be one change in the program as printed. The reception that has been announced to take place Monday evening at the Arlington has been changed to the National Museum. The Arlington is entirely too small to accommodate the 5,000 or more people who want invitations, and, as it seemed desirable to accept the invitation of the managers of the National Museum, the reception will be held there. The congress will be called together promptly at 10 a.m. by the president general, Mrs. Fairbanks. Prayer will be of-fered by the chaplain general, Mrs. William A. Smoot, and music will follow. The president general will then deliver her address of welcome. The report of the credential committee, roll call, report of program committee, consideration of amendments to the constitution and by-laws and mendations of national officers will occupy the afternoon. Reception at the National Museum will be held in the evening.

Tuesday at 10 a.m., after prayer and music, the report of the committee on representation will be presented, followed the reports of the national officers, as follows: Vice president general in charge of organization of chapters, recording secretary general, registrar general, treasurer general, historian general, assistant historian general, librarian general. The state regents will then present briefs of their reports. These are limited to three minutes

Wednesday morning, after the opening exercises, the following committees will report: On continental hall, Franco-American memorial, revolutionary relics, national university, prison ships, desecration of the flag. The editor and the business manager of the magazine will read their reports, followed by the report of the magazine committee. The last business of the afternoon will be the report of the committee on harmonizing the constitution and the

On Tuesday the principal business will be the nomination of national officers and editor and business manager of the American Monthly Magazine, the election to follow. There will be reports from the committee on recommendations of national officers committee on insignia, and some time will be spent in consideration of the lineage book.

Friday will be devoted mainly to unfinished and new business. There will be two sessions daily, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. The national society will have headquarters at the Ebbitt House during the congress. Only members of the congress will be admitted to the floor. Honorary and exofficers will occupy the boxes.
